

LFGC Annual Survey

What can we do for you in the 2018-19 academic year?

Our goals:

- Translate Chinese literature and folklore in a way that can let them join the dialogue with global literature and folklore.
- Effectively communicate literary and folkloristic ideas to benefit other fields such as pedagogy, history and anthropology.

Your needs:

In this survey you'll have opportunities to co-decide various aspects of LFGC future events:

- What time of the week works best for you to spend some quality time with colleagues/friends and to learn useful skills together?
- Do you want more occasions to talk about your research within a supportive community and in front of a truly engaging audience?
- Are you interested in reciting a poetry, playing a game or exploring a new place to get some inspirations and to refresh your mind?
- Are you seeking an entry point to learn Chinese language and culture from something familiar towards something exciting?
- Do you want to be connected with an alumnus/alumna of your field or a collaborator from a different department/university?

Please fill out the survey at go.osu.edu/lfgc0426 by April 26, 2018. All respondents will get a drink as a reward. The first 40 respondents will each get two traditional Taiwanese pastries. On top of all that, we'll select two most constructive feedback and give each winner a $50 Amazon gift card. Evaluation of the responses will be conducted in consultation with Prof. Kirk Denton and Prof. Mark Bender.
